May tested the market's conviction with geopolitical noise and "Sell in May" seasonal anxieties, but the structural AI hardware thesis remains unbroken. The TAIEX surged another staggering 15% in May, following a massive +20% run in April. We also surpassed India as the 5th largest stock market in the world as of last week with +60% YTD return on the index.

Note that GS 12-month TAIEX target of 45,000 points was officially reached after 6/1 Monday rally. Investor feedback is indicating a breather around this level before we head to 2H26 for the Santa rally at year-end. Hence, finding the right play and following the sector rotation is the key to capture more alpha during the time of volatility.

As we cross into June, the narrative shifts from vision to execution. With Computex acting as the centerpiece of the month, the market is focused on the physical infrastructure required to make the next-generation AI architecture a reality.

| The Main Event: Computex 2026 & The Architecture Pivot

While GTC in March was about the chips, Computex in June is about the racks, the power, and the cooling. The market is looking for the critical bottlenecks in the supply chain as data centers pivot from Blackwell to Rubin, and Feynman beyond.

- Rack-Level Integration: The business model is shifting from selling discrete chips to selling fully integrated NVL72/36 server racks. This favors ODMs with complex system integration capabilities, elevating the importance of names like Hon Hai (2317 TT), Quanta (2382 TT), and Wistron (3231 TT).
- The Agentic AI Pivot (CPU > GPU): While previous cycles were almost entirely GPU-dominated, we expect this year's Computex to heavily spotlight the resurgence of traditional server CPUs. Hyperscalers are urgently building out the orchestration and sequential reasoning layers required for Agentic AI. As CPU complexity and I/O density scale up to meet these demands, we advise watching names with strong exposure tailored to this CPU revival, specifically Kinsus (3189 TT), Lotes (3533 TT), Aspeed (5274 TT), and ASE (3711 TT).
- Cooling Solutions (MCL): As thermal limits are pushed to the brink by next-gen accelerators, the spotlight shifts to advanced precision cooling architectures. There will be heavy news flow and supply chain validation specifically around MCL cooling technologies, elevating the importance of key thermal players like Jentech (3653 TT).

- The Power Density Problem & 800V HVDC: You cannot just plug these massive racks into a standard wall. To manage the extreme power draw of next-generation infrastructure, the transition to 800V High-Voltage Direct Current (HVDC) power shelves and advanced power supplies is structurally critical, reinforcing our conviction in Delta Electronics (2308 TT).
- The Computex Trading Dynamic (Selling into the Event): Be cautious of classic "buy the rumor, sell the news" dynamics. Because investors often position these infrastructure catalysts ahead of the event, investors historically sell into Computex. We recommend taking tactical profits into the event's strength rather than aggressively chasing gap-ups post-announcement, as the risk level is high.

Fund Positioning: Global "All In" Crowding vs. Taiwan Inflows

- The Global Perspective (Hedge Funds go All In on AI): According to the latest GS Hedge Fund Trend Monitor, smart money is actively longing the AI trade globally. Hedge funds entered Q2 by lifting their net tilt to the Information Technology sector by +853bps, the largest quarterly increase to the sector on record. Funds are now carrying a record 10% portfolio weight in Semiconductors and a 90th percentile tilt to the Momentum factor.
- The Flow Data (Monthly Net Buyers & The Domestic Buffer): Looking at the aggregate monthly data for May, Taiwan was decisively net bought by hedge funds, with long buys significantly outpacing short sales. This structural inflow drove Taiwan's net allocation up to 7.25% and gross allocation up to 4.1%. Within this capital deployment, foreign flow remains highly selective: institutions continued their structural profit-taking in TSMC over US$6bn but rotated that capital directly into other large cap names over US$11bn such as Mediatek (2454 TT) and Yageo (2327 TT). Furthermore, any foreign de-risking was easily absorbed by an absolute fortress of local liquidity, characterized by inflows from domestic funds (US$8bn in TSMC+Tech and US$6bn in aggregate) and retail throughout May that provided a relentless bid under the broader market.

The Liquidity Catalyst: FTSE GEIS Rebalance (June 19)

FTSE Russell has announced the indicative quarterly review results for its Global Equity Index Series (GEIS), subject to change until 6/5 (Fri).

- The Event: Implementation is scheduled for after market close on Friday, June 19.
- The Impact: While June is typically a minor adjustment period for FTSE, this rebalancing is still expected to trigger over US$18bn in gross two-way flows across APAC and US$8bn across EM markets. For Taiwan, we are expecting a gross two-way flows of US$1.1bn and small passive outflows of US$164mn.

Hidden Gem Long Ideas: Solving the AI Chip "Warpage" Bottleneck

As AI chip dimensions rapidly expand and multi-chip advanced packaging becomes the norm, wafer warpage during high-temperature processing (molding) has emerged as a massive yield killer. The market has yet realized the upside of these materials and equipment specifically needed to solve this.

- Alliance Material (3595 TT) – The "Balance Film" Solution: The industry has historically relied on brute-force solutions: specifically, rigid hard ceramic carriers (like those from NGK), to physically force wafers to stay flat during processing. However, this solution is not sufficient enough.
- The Physics of "Rebound Warpage": Think of the ultra-thin wafer as a delicate sheet of paper, the temporary bonding (UV/Laser debond) as a highly controlled adhesive, and the ceramic carrier as a heavy, rigid stone slab. While the rigid stone slab keeps the wafer flat during the extreme heat of the molding process, it simply locks the stress inside the wafer. Once the temporary bonding is removed and the carrier is detached, that pent-up stress is violently released all at once, resulting in massive rebound warpage.

- The Paradigm Shift: Industry check has shown that balance film is a better solution than ceramics. You cannot just use a harder substrate; you need a material that continuously balances the structural stress within the final product. This is where Alliance Material's Balance Film comes in.
- The Fundamental Inflection: Alliance Material is perfectly positioned to capture this paradigm shift. Their Wafer-Level (round) Balance Film demand is currently experiencing massive growth, with multiple tier-1 clients having already passed validation. Furthermore, they are actively sampling solutions for next-generation Through Glass Via (TGV) architectures. Financially, the turnaround is already evident: the company posted a massive +70% YoY revenue surge for the year, making it a highly actionable materials play heading into the 2H26 advanced packaging ramp.
- The Near-Term Catalyst (Monthly Revenues): Moving forward, the critical metric to monitor will be their upcoming monthly revenue reports. We are looking for clear confirmation that these high-margin Balance Films have officially entered mass production. A structural step-up in monthly revenue generation will provide the fundamental backdrop necessary to support the company's current market cap and expanding valuation multiples.
- Ableprint Tech (7734 TT) – The Advanced Equipment Enabler: Solving the warpage bottleneck requires a dual-pronged approach: advanced materials (like Balance Film) and specialized processing equipment. Ableprint Tech provides the mission-critical machinery in terms of advanced thermal, vacuum lamination, and warpage suppression systems that are required to physically handle these highly stressed wafers and ultra-thin substrates. Their proprietary equipment physically mitigates structural failure during the high-temperature reflow and molding processes. As the industry scales toward larger AI die sizes and transitions into Fan-Out Panel-Level Packaging (FOPLP), the tolerance for warpage is approaching zero. We view Ableprint Tech as the pure-play equipment beneficiary of this transition. With tier-1 foundries and OSATs aggressively expanding advanced packaging ca[ex, Ableprint's order book visibility is expanding rapidly, providing a highly compelling growth trajectory for 2H26 and beyond.

| The Next Secular Growth Trend: Raw Wafers

Following the massive supply shortages in ABF Substrates and MLCCs, we believe Raw Wafers are setting up to be the next major secular growth trend and component bottleneck in the AI hardware cycle.

- Demand Broadening & Bottoming: The down-cycle has definitively bottomed out. While AI remains the primary driver for 12-inch wafers, we are now seeing a broadening demand recovery across mature nodes, auto, and industrial sectors, leading to rapidly declining inventory days across major segments.
- The 2H26 Capacity Squeeze: We expect capacity utilization to spike significantly in 2H26 as this broad-based recovery collides with the massive wafer requirements of next-generation AI accelerators and the incoming traditional server CPU revival.
- Pricing Power & Limited Expansion: More importantly, unlike previous cycles, major wafer suppliers have remained highly disciplined with capacity expansion. This structurally tight supply dynamic is already generating intense industry chatter regarding better-than-expected price hikes in both spot and new long-term agreements (LTAs). My personal top pick is GlobalWafers (6488 TT) as a prime beneficiary, with accelerating pricing leverage poised to drive substantial earnings upside into 2027. See our latest earnings review here. Besides GlobalWafers, other tier-2 companies in Taiwan include Formosa Sumco (3532 TT) and Wafer Works (6182 TT).

Tactical Trades: Active ETF Hedging & Pure-Play Brokerages

- Hedging via Active ETFs: Violent short squeezes in heavily shorted legacy names (i.e. Lite-On, Largan, Innolux, Acer, Asus, ODMs) have made single-stock shorting exceptionally dangerous right now. To hedge portfolio beta without the unlimited tail-risk of a squeeze, shorting Active ETFs (e.g., 00981A, 00403A, 00990A) may be a better aler. These funds systematically select high-beta momentum stocks, making them highly correlated, safer instruments for broad market hedging in a liquidity-driven environment.
- Non-Tech Longs (Pure-Play Brokerages): Record-high daily turnover, surging retail margin balances, and the boom in domestic Active ETF fees offer a highly lucrative non-tech alpha opportunity. We prefer pure-play brokerages over diversified Financial Holding Companies (FHCs) for direct, undiluted leverage to this liquidity surge. Our top picks are President Securities (2855 TT) and Capital Securities (6005 TT).

Key June 2026 Dates to Watch

- First Week of June: Computex Taipei
- June 5: Final revisions for FTSE GEIS Rebalance announced
- June 10: Taiwan May Monthly Revenue Deadline (Checking for AI delivery acceleration)
- June 19: FTSE GEIS Rebalance Implementation (Expect massive MOC volatility)
- Throughout June: Annual General Shareholder Meetings (AGMs) for major tech firms (Watch closely for management commentary on 2H26 outlooks, capacity expansions, and dividend policies)

Please feel free to reach out to your GS representative to discuss any ideas ahead of these upcoming catalysts.

Unless governing law permits otherwise, you must contact a Goldman Sachs entity in your home jurisdiction if you want to use our services in effecting a transaction in the securities mentioned in this material. This material is not for distribution to retail clients, as that term is defined under The European Union Markets in Financial Instruments Directive(2014/65/EU) (including as implemented in the United Kingdom), and any investments, including derivatives, mentioned in this material will not be made available by us to any such retail client.

Reproduction and Re-Distribution: Without our prior written consent, no part of this material may be (i) copied, photocopied or duplicated in any form by any means or (ii) redistributed. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, and except as required to enable compliance with applicable securities law, you (and each of your employees, representatives and other agents) may disclose to any and all persons the U.S. federal income and state tax treatment and tax structure of the transaction and all materials of any kind (including tax opinions and other tax analyses) that are provided to you relating to such tax treatment and tax structure, without Goldman Sachs imposing any limitation of any kind.

Information Not for Further Dissemination: To the extent this communication contains Goldman Sachs' pricing information, such pricing information is proprietary and/or confidential and is provided solely for the internal use of the intended recipient(s). You are notified that any unauthorized use, dissemination, distribution or copying of this communication or its contents, including pricing information, in whole or in part, is strictly prohibited. Further, unless prohibited by local law, any use, review or acceptance of this information is subject to and manifests your agreement with Goldman Sachs to use such information only in accordance with the terms set forth above. Goldman Sachs has caused its proprietary information to be delivered to you in reliance upon such agreement.

Not a Valuation: Values herein are not customer valuations and should not be used in lieu of a customer valuation statement or account statement. These values may not reflect the value of the positions carried on the books and records of Goldman Sachs or its affiliates and should not be relied upon for the maintenance of your books and records or for any tax, accounting, legal or other purposes. The information provided herein does not supersede any customer statements, confirmations or other similar notifications.

Receipt of Orders: An order sent to Goldman Sachs by email or instant message is not deemed to be received by Goldman Sachs until a Goldman Sachs representative verifies the order details with a phone call to the client or acknowledges receipt of the order via email or instant message to the client. Goldman Sachs does not accept client orders sent via fax or voicemail systems.

Indicative Terms/Pricing Levels: This material may contain indicative terms only, including but not limited to pricing levels. There is no representation that any transaction can or could have been effected at such terms or prices. Proposed terms and conditions are for discussion purposes only. Finalized terms and conditions are subject to further discussion and negotiation.

Special Risk Disclosure related to Exchange-Traded Funds ("ETFs") and Exchange-Traded Notes ("ETNs"): To the extent this communication contains information pertaining to ETFs or ETNs, consider the investment objectives, risks, and charges and expenses of the ETFs and ETNs carefully before investing. Each U.S. Registered ETF and ETN has filed a registration statement (including a prospectus) with the SEC which contains this and other information about the ETF or ETN as applicable. Before you invest in an ETF or ETN, you should obtain and read carefully the prospectus in the registration statement and other documents the issuer has filed with the SEC for more complete information about the product. You may get these documents for free by visiting EDGAR on the SEC website at www.sec.gov. Alternatively, you may obtain a copy of the prospectus for each of the ETFs and ETNs mentioned in these materials by (i) contacting your Goldman Sachs sales representative, or (ii) sending a request by calling toll-free 1-866-471-2526, or (iii) sending a request by email to Prospectus-ny@ny.email.gs.com, by fax to (212) 902-9316, or by mail to Goldman Sachs, 200 West Street, NY, NY 10282, Attn: Prospectus Department. ETFs are redeemable only in Creation Unit size aggregations and may not be individually redeemed; are redeemable only through Authorized Participants; and are redeemable on an "in-kind" basis. The public trading price of a redeemable lot of the ETFs may be different from its net asset value. These ETFs can trade at a discount or premium to the net asset value. There is always a fundamental risk of declining stock prices, which can cause losses to your investment. Some leveraged and inverse ETFs and ETNs "reset" daily, meaning that they are designed to achieve their stated objectives on a daily basis. They will therefore realize each day a loss or a gain which is a multiple (for leveraged ETFs and ETNs) or the inverse (for inverse ETFs and ETNs) of the performance on that day of their underlying index or benchmark. For this reason, if they are held for a period longer than one day, their performance over such longer periods of time can differ significantly from the stated multiple of the performance (or the inverse of the performance) of their underlying index or benchmark during the same period of time. This effect can be magnified in volatile markets. Prior to entering into a transaction in leveraged or inverse ETFs, you should be aware of the general risks associated with such transactions. You should not enter into leveraged or inverse ETFs transactions unless you understand the nature and extent of your risk exposure. You should also be satisfied that the leveraged or inverse ETFs transaction is appropriate for you in light of your circumstances and financial condition. ETFs and ETNs that are linked to commodity futures do not offer direct exposure to the commodity's spot price, and may perform differently than the spot price for the commodity itself. Performance differential can be magnified if a specific condition persists in the market for a commodity that creates a disparity between near-term future prices and long-term future prices and may lead to unexpected performance results. Other factors, such as roll yield, transaction costs, management fees, and taxes may cause deviation in performance between the spot price of a commodity and commodity futures. You should not assume that an ETF or ETN that is linked to commodity futures will provide an effective hedge because of a negative correlation with equities or other asset classes. You should always be aware of the general risks associated with investing in the commodities market and the futures market before investing in an ETF or ETN that is linked to commodity futures.

Risk Disclosure Regarding futures, options, equity swaps, and other derivatives as well as non-investment-grade securities and ADRs: Please ensure that you have read and understood the current options, futures and security futures disclosure document before entering into any such transactions. Current United States listed options, futures and security futures disclosure documents are available from our sales representatives or at <http://www.theocc.com/components/docs/riskstoc.pdf>, <http://www.goldmansachs.com/disclosures/risk-disclosure-for-futures.pdf> and <https://www.nfa.futures.org/investors/investor-resources/files/security-futures-disclosure.pdf>, respectively. Certain transactions - including those involving futures, options, equity swaps, and other derivatives as well as non-investment-grade securities - give rise to substantial risk and are not available to nor suitable for all investors. If you have any questions about whether you are eligible to enter into these transactions with Goldman Sachs, please contact your sales representative. Foreign-currency-denominated securities are subject to fluctuations in exchange rates that could have an adverse effect on the value or price of, or income derived from, the investment. In addition, investors in securities such as ADRs, the values of which are influenced by foreign currencies, effectively assume currency risk.
